Join pediatric Speech Language Pathologist, Jennifer Watson for a three part series including rich Q/A dialogue

We all know that speech is important, but the profound impact that it has on a child's emotional regulation, peer and family relationships, and academic success is absolutely amazing!

These Workshops focus on learning how to support a child's speech development so they are not as frustrated when sharing their thoughts, feelings, and needs to others, thereby reducing tantrums.

Topics will include:

- Speech Milestones: The role we all have in acquiring knowledge and teaching our children to talk and communicate effectively.
- Ideas and strategies to help decrease frustrations and increase their ability to confidently communicate, how to identify issues and resources in our region.
- Strategies to increase a child's vocabulary and ability to speak clearly so they feel heard, understood, and learn how to get their needs met by others.
- Learning our role as an advocate, how to utilize an Individualized Education Plan, and help in building a child's confidence and emotional regulation skills.
